The KIRE collection, designed by Giorgio Topan, revisits the multi-purpose single-shell chair, taking initial inspiration from the meaning of its name: "cut." Light and unfussy, with shades of Scandinavian design, KIRE's profile is instantly recognisable. Its shape assures freedom of movement and combines with endless combinations of chair features to make KIRE a versatile seating collection with a linear and contemporary look, suitable for any setting: office, home and public spaces.

Community chair / visitor / stool / bench

Polypropylene chair with clean design and innovative personalised detail in the backrest. The polypropylene shell is available in 6 different colours; it can be completely upholstered; or have a seat-cushion only. The range includes the fixed stacking versions with white, black or chromed sled or four-legged frames. The sled version is available with armrests with black or white polyurethane tops, an armrest with writing tablet, and remains stackable. The 4-legged version with natural or black lacquered ashwood shell is also available with armrests. The pyramid version comes: on a black or white polypropylene base; on a black, white or polished aluminium base; optionally with castors. A black or white polypropylene 5-spur height-adjustable version is also available. There are three stool versions: five-spur task; swivel with height-adjustment; and 4 black or white legs available at a choice of seat heights. Beam units with 2 to 5 seats.
